Zemanek-Münster

WÜRZBURG—Zemanek-Münster's 76th tribal art auction will be held in the Bavarian town of Würzburg on May 27, 2017, and will feature objects from a number of German collections, including those of Bernhard Jäger and Walter Schmidt, who is contributing eleven objects that were published by Karl-Ferdinand Schädler in his work Afrikanische Kunst in deutschen Privatsammlungen (African Art in German Private Collections) in 1973. The many lots in the sale will be available for preview beginning on May 24. This is an unusually large sale that is accompanied by a two-volume catalog.

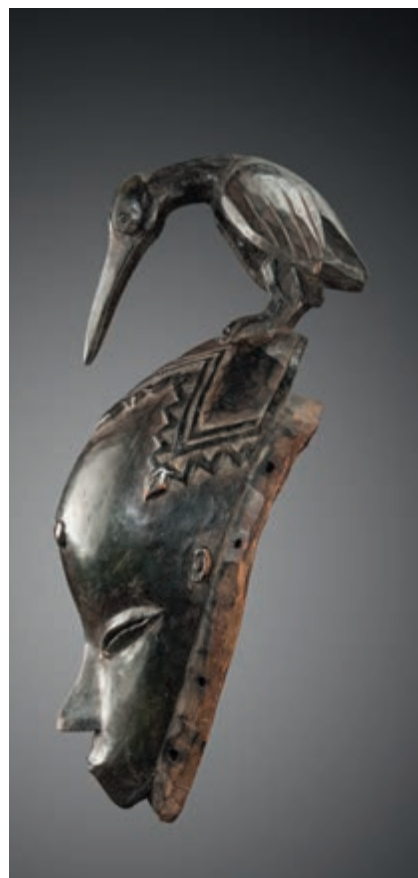

Heritage

DALLAS—The auction house Heritage will hold a summer sale titled Ethnographic Art: American Indian, Pre-Columbian, and Tribal on June 23, 2017, at its Dallas headquarters and online. It features the particularly interesting collection of Pre-Columbian artworks from the Beverly Hills estate of Adeline Newman, who formed it in the 1950s and 1960s. Strong in West Coast Mexican and ancient Chupícauro ceramic sculpture, it bears affinities to the noted Natalie Wood Collection now at the Fowler Museum at UCLA, which was assembled at the same time. The sale will also feature highlights from the Dr. George Nelson Preston Collection. Preston, an art historian and original beat movement member, has spent a lifetime building a collection of African art. Prominent among these works is a Kongo stone funerary stele, formerly in the Alfred Scheinberg Collection.
